CHAIRMAN'S Notes June 2022

The Management Committee has elected to retain the current level of Covid vaccination requirements for entry to the shed premises.

To provide a safe environment for members, this means that anyone visiting the shed must be able to provide evidence of Covid vaccination on request.

The Gosnells Community Women's Shed are now in their second month and the group has seen continued interest from prospective members with around 27 meeting each week on Saturday mornings. This week will see the first Wednesday afternoon social meeting and also the first small group receiving induction and training in the wood shop.

The 2022 olive oil production is complete and although the season was not as bountiful as last year and the oil yield was also lower, a delightfully fruity olive oil was produced and bottled and is now available from the office.

250mL bottles are $6.00 each and 500mL bottles are $12.00 each.

The weekly meals provided on Thursdays are progressing well, but there is a need for a few more volunteers to assist with preparation and cooking – if you are able to help, please talk to any committee member.

The electronic sign-in trial has hit a temporary snag due to an automatic app update failing to proceed as planned, we hope to be back on-line shortly.

Allen Holloway
Chairman

SHED MANAGEMENT:

Committees

Members are urged to become involved in at least one of the many committee established to help manage our organisation. The purpose of having these committees is to involve the general membership in various aspects of the management process. At present most committee members are also on the Management Committee, which almost defeats the purpose of having sub committees in the first place.

Details of the Committee meetings are placed on the whiteboard outside the Lewis House kitchen. Members are encouraged to consider becoming involved and arrange to attend a meeting to find out more about how they work and what they are required to consider.

At the coming AGM, in August, you too can throw your hat in the ring to become a member of the Management Committee!

Ted Evans the new Treasurer in waiting is having productive handover sessions with Arpad Pratzky and is settling in well.

FACILITIES MANAGEMENT

All the chaps involved in the facilities have been busy in the gardens which are really taking shape. The gutters on the house have been cleaned as the water was flowing back into the toilet block. The Dow pipes will need to be replaced very soon as they are rusting out.

Facilities coordinator.

GARDENING - HELP NEEDED:

The Shed has many garden beds along fences and walls which need pruning, edging and weeding.

Please contact John Bowler, Buster or Graham if you can help with maintenance of one of these areas.

Graham Bartley-Smith

Health & Wellbeing

Over the past month there has been several members come down with Covid and have had to isolate for at least seven days which is a fair indication to make people aware that Covid has not gone away - we must all be proactive in doing the right thing.

It was pleasing to see Mike Devereux at the shed for a couple of the Thursday lunches. Mike is going through an extremely difficult time at the moment with major medical issues and from myself and all the members at the shed would like to let him know we are thinking of him and his family.

Chris Beckett is also going through very serious medical issues and once again our thoughts are with Chris and his family at this time.

Welfare

On 17 May a presentation by Regional Men's Health was conducted in the Wiltshire Room. Tom drove from Northam to present this talk and I was pleased to see about 20 members and partners attended and 14 of these members had the pit stop health check done which measured blood pressure and waist measurement etc.

The Gosnells Community Men's Shed News

At the zone meeting held on Monday 30th May there was a presentation done by COTA. COTA has a booklet called The Goodbye Guide and I have arranged to have 50-60 of these available to members at the shed over the next couple of weeks, this is also available on line. These booklets are extremely informative for preparations for your departure from the planet on how to get paperwork prepared to make that time a bit easier on the ones left behind.

Please continue to be Covid safe at the shed.

Kind regards,
Graham Hughes
Welfare Officer 0419 514 631

Our happy dry cyclists!

Not too much to report this time, which I daresay some will think....'thank god! As you see by the picture of us this time, instead of us 'sloggin' it out, cycling to our favourite places, for anything up to three hours, including our essential stop for a coffee, maybe some cake or a biscuit, and definitely a blether (Scottish for a friendly chat!), we all met up at our local 'Dome' cafe here in Gosnells, for an hour or so. The following Thursday was damp as well....with a shortened outing, with the pleasant cafe at Beckenham's Mills Park our sheltering spot from the rain, although four of us had an interesting ride home, on roads none of us had cycled....through Wattle and Orange Groves, passing Gosnells' own winery....'Jadran' on Reservoir Road. (the other four went home the 'short way'!)

The following week, our 'bad-luck' continued, with another dampener, with our weekly outing completely cancelled, and we're all wondering what have we done to upset the 'Weather Bureau'?.....great sunny days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, then Thursday,a 'damp squib'!

Recipe Simple French onion potato bake

With only four ingredients to turn the humble spud into something truly delicious, this potato bake recipe has to be a winner. Layers of potato, onion and creamy make this hearty side which can easily be a main meal with the addition of a crisp, green salad.

Ingredients

2kg potatoes, peeled and sliced thinly;	4 brown onions, peeled and sliced into rings;
1 pkt French onion soup mix;	600ml pouring cream

Method

In a large baking dish layer onions, potatoes and soup mix in that order until all ingredients are used ending with potatoes as the last layer.

Pour cream evenly across the dish.

Cover with foil and bake for 50 mins at 180°C.

Do you have a recipe to share??

HOUSE CLEANING:

Cleaning Roster

We are in need of more members to join our merry band on the cleaning roster.

There are 17 of us on the roster working in pairs once a week on Mondays. That leaves one member orphaned. At present, we are roster on once every nine weeks.

The cleaning is not onerous and takes no more than one hour to complete.

We clean Lewis House and the office of the Workshop Manager. Tasks include, vacuum/mop floors, clean toilets, empty bins, and replenish toilet consumables (if necessary). Cleaning products are provided. These are only light duties and definitely NO EXPERIENCE NEEDED.

As an organisation run by solely by volunteers, we rely on the support of all members to help keep the operations going. Don't sit back and leave it to someone else, otherwise, it will be left to the few to carry the burden. Participation is rewarding and you will be helping make the Shed more enjoyable for your fellow Shedders.

If you can spare the time and are physically able, please come forward and I will add you to the roster.

Thanks

Mick (Alan's cleaning buddy)

Please volunteer at the front Office.

This will need somebody to run the Group. Please let the Secretary know if you are interested in this activity and or running the group. You could probably borrow the Grand kids Lego!

Did You know? Pt 9a

McKim's "Orchard" brand jam and peel Factory

George Arthur McKim was born in 1872, in NSW, the only son of James Robert and Aida McKim, born in County Tyrone in 1851, marrying before migrating. George married Clara (Francis) in Grafton, NSW in 1895 before moving to WA in 1900. He had been a seaman, a carpenter and mechanic before arriving in Freo, where he set up a successful confectionary business in Scott Street before selling to the well know Mills and Warner business 1918.

He then moved to Gosnells in 1920 (if you walk along the river bank, you can still see the original packing shed). Neighbours of course included our Lewis family and the Green, Viscovic Buckley and Carbone families, over time.

Originally, he built just a shed with two boiling coppers, and stored lemon peel under a mulberry tree! Later, he devised a boiler using old steam pipes and devices for cutting peel and juicing lemons. Deft use was made of second-hand fish canning machinery, and he had his own tin-smithy.

Jam Manufacturer

His specialities, apart from Apricot, Fig and Plum Jams and Peel included tomato sauce, baked beans and other canned veg. The business soon prospered. The family did not take a wage until WW2, but after living expenses, ploughed all the profits back in to the business. Pre-war, the annual total output had already been pre-ordered the previous year. Much was sold to the UK, and at its' height, 300 tons of lemons were processed every day. George must have been doing well, as he was able to upgrade from his Austin 7 in 1938.

A further boost came during WW2 with contracts to the Defence Department. GIs reckoned that Gosnells' fruit was better than Californian, and he was buying in figs from as far away as Harvey and Granny Smiths from Kalamunda.

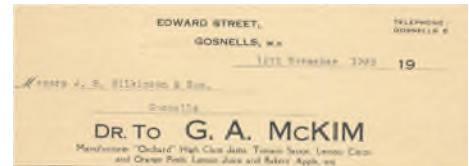

His first employee, other than family, was Ester Lauterbach (more on her family in a later article), growing to 8 full time and up to twenty seasonal workers. Boys were hired at the age of 15, and girls 16. Because of many of the staff being First Day Adventists, hiring Saturday labour was not always easy – but Sundays were! One perk of the jobs was the offer of "Free wireless".

An expansion venture to grow fruit on 13 acres in Chamberlain Street during WW2 was destroyed by a plague of locusts. The land was eventually sold off in the 1950s as part of the winding down of the company. Adverts for selling off hundreds of wooden fruit boxes appeared regularly in the 1950s.

Fruit was in short supply after the war – George was sued over 3000 pounds for failing to provide only 5 tons of a 110 ton 'verbal' contract. Due to rising wage costs and competition from bigger Eastern Companies, the firm finally closed in 1958. George was always aggrieved that he never received the recognition for employing so many local people and pumping money into the Gosnells economy.

Next month: Part 9b: More about the McKim family.

Damages To Be Assessed

In a reserved judgment in the Supreme Court yesterday, Mr. Justice Walker found in favour of Cecil Francis Gladwin Flynn and Francis Ignatius Flynn, merchants of Perth, for a breach of contract against George Arthur McKim, manufacturer of citron and orange peels, of Gosnells.

His Honour entered judgment for the plaintiffs for damages, to be assessed, with costs.

The plaintiffs alleged a breach of contract by McKim in the supply of 110 tons of mixed peel, and claimed £1,026/13/4 for loss of profit, and £2,420/17/7 for compensation to customers and damages.

Mr. J. Hale appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. H. V. Reilly and Mr. C. H. Smith for the defendant.

HILLS HOLIDAY.

ORCHARDISTS' LABOUR PROBLEMS.

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, whence cometh my help," is applicable to Western Australia, for the production of abundance of fruit and vegetables real help in the national crisis," writes Mr. R. S. Thompson, M.L.A.

My Christmas holiday was well spent in a ramble through the hills districts, Kalbarria, Buckley, Pickering Brook, Koolystone, Koolbuck, Gosnells, Armadale, Bedfordale and Westfield were visited. I went down by ways that divided into rough tracks that led down into secluded glens where, in the adverse conditions brought about by the scarcity of labour, fruitgrowers—men and wife—worked together from dawn till dusk.

"I came to mountain creeks that, having contributed to scenic beauty, went on to play their part in the work of production. Many of the hills orchards are irrigated from brooks. One grower with the help of his son was when I arrived at his holding, busy engaged in cutting a stream with bush-hewn timber. The brook offended inasmuch that it divided his orchard and hampered cultivation, so it was made into a subterranean stream, only to be brought to the surface where required. Henceforth it will thus unobscured in the darkness, and long furrows ploughed from end to end of the orchard will turn the soil above it.

"Despite all efforts, the producers of the hills districts have not been able to keep up their past standard of cultivation. Mr. W. C. Tenby, of Pickering Brook, with the help of one man, looks after 20 acres of mixed stone fruit and citrus. He has endeavoured to solve his labour problem by the purchase of a 17-horsepower tractor and a dual disc cultivator which are giving excellent service. The cultivator takes an 8ft. strip and can work the soil under the trees, eliminating the laborious task of digging. Mr. Tenby had picked and packed 35 cases of fruit prior to my arrival at his establishment at about 6 p.m.

"Everywhere I saw high class fruit, particularly peaches, plums, oranges and apricots. The judicious grading and careful handling practised by hills orchardists add greatly to the value of the produce.

"At Gosnells I spent an interesting hour at the jam factory of Mr. McKim, who had worked 12 hours on the day of my visit. He explained that his staff had been depleted by the demands of war. He was under an obligation, he said, to supply certain quantities of jam to the fighting forces, but at the same time Government regulations did not allow him to retain experienced employees."

Ratepayers' Meetings.

It was decided that ratepayers meetings should be held at Gosnells on the following Friday, and at East Cannington on September 29.

On the motion of Mr. Richardson, it was resolved that minutes of meetings should be typed and a copy sent to each member, to obviate the necessity for reading minutes prior to the commencement of business.

Mr. Barratt moved, and Mr. Mackie seconded, that written authority be given to Mr. McKim to prevent any person removing soil from Edward-street, Gosnells. Carried.

The chairman was authorised to call a special meeting to deal with tenders closing before the date of the next Board meeting.

NON-DELIVERY COSTS WA FIRM £2861

Damages totalling £2861/3/9 were awarded in Perth Supreme Court today to Victorian export company R. Wallace-Mitchell, Pty., Ltd., from Cecil Francis Gladwin-Grove and Francis Ignatius Flynn, trading as British Agencies, of King-st., Perth.

The amount of damages was by consent. British Agencies admitted liability because of breach of contract.

R. Wallace-Mitchell, Pty. Ltd., claimed that on May 6, 1948, British Agencies contracted to supply 110 tons of mixed citrus peel packed by G. A. McKim, of Gosnells. The peel was to be delivered to Fremantle by October 31, 1948.

Wallace-Mitchell then arranged to sell the peel to an English firm. Final delivery date was to be October 31, 1948.

British Agencies had delivered only 11 tons by that date.

Because of this Wallace-Mitchell had had to pay the English buyer £1744 for settlement of a claim for non-delivery. Loss of profit and other losses incurred made the total loss £2861/3/9.
